Partnerships and Coalition

The Zuellig Family Foundation (ZFF) works with partners toward a collective goal of improving health outcomes. Since 2012, the Foundation collaborated with major partners on health leadership and governance. These partners include the MSD for Mothers Global Giving Program, the United Nations' Population Fund, the United Nations' Children's Fund, and the US Agency for International Development.

As a result of its partnerships, the Foundation innovated and expanded its work on leadership and governance. Since 2012, total value of completed and ongoing partnerships is around P244 million.

The Foundation's strategy is geared toward developing the collective impact approach to strengthen primary healthcare and its integration of social determinants of health. The collective impact approach aims to bring all relevant stakeholders together to set a common health agenda. Under its coalition strategy, the Foundation teams up with government agencies, civil society organizations, and the business and private sectors as part of the Association of Foundations, League of Corporate Foundations, 162 to 52 Coalition, and the Zero Extreme Poverty Movement.
